

Sirris - Build a unique career and become a Digital Technology Champion

Build a unique career and become a Digital Technology Champion

Are you looking for a unique opportunity to collaborate with Belgian high-tech companies? That's what we do at Sirris! Helping pioneering companies to take the next step in innovation is what drives us every day. Digital innovation in products, factories and business models is becoming key for companies to become futureproof.

We help them by:

- giving guidance in making the right technological choices;
- building proofs-of-concept and demonstrators to show the innovative potential of emerging digital technologies;
- sharing our knowledge through master classes, events and publications.

When do companies contact us?

- when they are looking for non-obvious solutions to problems that keep them awake.
- when they are facing complex, challenging innovations, involving a high level of risk.
- when they want to initiate industrial research.
- when they want to gain knowledge concerning new emerging (digital) technologies.

A unique opportunity for you

What we do is unique in Belgium. Driven by the industry, we advise and collaborate with more than 1.000 companies on a yearly basis. To realize this, we can rely on an extensive network of partners (universities, research centres...).
